Financial Policy

Maple Tree Center for Growth is a faith-based, 501(c)(3) non-profit ministry. As a faith-based ministry our desire is that through evidence based treatment blended and integrated with spiritual formation and biblically rooted services we can help our community without cost to anyone who desires to come to us for healing and freedom. Maple Tree Center for Growth trusts God to meet all of its expenses through inspired giving by churches, foundations, and those individuals who benefit from the Gospel-centered counseling available under its founding charter, or by private individuals intending to help others attain freedom, healing and wholeness.

The receipt of our services are not dependent upon financial or other gifts received on your behalf. Any unsolicited donation given does help provide for business expenses, client materials, and salary for our staff. For those who inquire the average price, not required by Maples Tree enter for Growth, for services such as we offer is between $100-$150 a session in Western North Carolina.

All gifts to Maple Tree Center for Growth are tax deductible to the extent allowed by law and are received with the full knowledge and understanding that the Maple Tree Center for Growth Board of Directors or executive staff shall exercise full control over the use on behalf of this ministry. Tax law requires that any personal deductions for donations to a 501(c)(3) must be above and beyond and services received.

I understand the services received at Maple Tree Center for Growth is provided at no charge and is not dependent on any voluntary contribution I may choose to make.

Maple Tree Center for Growth Focus

Our goal at Maple Tree is to help individuals see themselves in the safest, most non-judgmental environment we can offer. We often say there is no room for shame and fear in our offices. Once you start to see yourself correctly, then we can teach you how to heal, grow, and develop the skills needed to create the change you desire.

Maples Tree Center for Growth is different in how it seeks to balance evidence based treatment and both historical and modern spiritual formation. Not all personal and relational struggles are purely clinical nor are they purely spiritual. We approach each individual and situation uniquely, working to discover what interventions and course of action is both best and asked for by our clients. We never force or require spiritual formation as a direct treatment yet all of our clinicians will seek the counsel and the wisdom offered by the Spirit in all of our services. The Spirit loves the experience and wisdom of evidence based treatment.

We do not see these interventions as mutually exclusive or that one is superior to the other. We trust what works and what helps individuals and families alike. We appreciate the Bible as our rooted guild for love, patience, understanding, forgiveness and wisdom in all of our services. We are not here to judge others nor are we here to force our beliefs on others. We are committed to meeting each person or situation as it is and help people move forward towards increasingly healthy and fulfilling lives.

Maple Tree Center for Growth offers individual, couples, family and community services. We also offer help for addiction support groups and educational opportunities for parenting, codependency and other social/relational needs. We aim to provide services for a wide variety of relational needs and offer a variety of interventions. And, we offer direct and specific spiritual formation for anyone seeking to develop into who God has created and invited them to be. Whenever asked and invited to do so all of our services can involve the inclusion of spiritual formation and direction.
